

I agree with FAIR on the cross-ownership rule ba. In a moment when we are most critical of control media in other contries with which we are at war, how is it possible to move against diversity in the media. The media is the fourth power. It is maybe the most powerful instrument of democracy available. I believe we should would to protect and guarantee diversity in the media and engage in any ruling would jeopardize our democracy, with the political implications it has.